Jose Ramon Gonzalez-Magaz

Jose Ramon Gonzalez-Magaz is a partner in the antitrust, international, and litigation departments of Steptoe & Johnson LLP.

Antitrust and Competition Law

Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz’s practice covers several fields of antitrust litigation, including price-fixing claims, refusals-to-deal, and matters pertaining to vertical restraint of competition. He has prepared market-analysis premerger submissions to US, European, and Latin American antitrust authorities; and has provided legal advice on the interaction of US antitrust statutes and their Latin American counterparts. Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz has also provided guidance, and prepared compliance manuals, regarding search warrants and “dawn raids.”

Litigation and Arbitration

Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz is experienced in several areas of US and international litigation, including products liability, mass torts, sales practices, intellectual property, and insurance disputes. He is a member of a defense team for asbestos, welding fumes, and silica claims, for which he has appeared in courts across the United States. Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz has defended the intellectual property rights of clients in patent and trademark litigations before federal courts and the US International Trade Commission. Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz also has significant experience in principal-agent litigation distribution statutes (e.g., Puerto Rico Law 75, Costa Rica Law 6209), and disputes between hotel owners and operators. Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz has extensive experience formulating e-discovery processes and litigating e-discovery disputes.

International Arbitration and Dispute Resolution

Mr. Gonzalez-Magaz represents clients in arbitrations before ICSID, ICC, and other international fora. Working with local counsel, he has advised multinational clients regarding commercial issues under the laws of the United States, Brazil, Mexico, and other countries.
