Overview

Event Details
Join us for a special in person episode of The Cyberlaw Podcast where we will be focusing on Elections Cybersecurity. Every future US election is likely to feature claims that the result was affected by hacking. As things stand now, those claims will be hard to rebut. This panel will explore just how serious the electoral hacking problem is and how US authorities should respond to that challenge.

As a member of the live audience during the podcast recording, you will have the opportunity to discuss these issues with our distinguished panelists in person.

Date: Thursday, November 7, 2017
Time: 4:30 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.
  4:30 p.m.: Registration & Cocktails
  5:00 p.m.: Live Podcast Recording
  6:00 p.m.: Cocktail Reception

Event Location
Steptoe
1330 Connecticut Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20036

Featured Panelists:
- Stewart Baker, Partner, Steptoe
- Ed Felten, Director, Center for Information Technology Policy, Princeton University
- Chris Krebs, Senior Official Performing the Duties of the Under Secretary for the National Protection and Programs Directorate, Department of Homeland Security

The Cyberlaw Podcast provides insights into the latest events in technology, security, privacy, and government.

Practices
Privacy & Cybersecurity
National Security/CFIUS